Guide to Selecting Courses Eligible for Transfer Credit

Applying early for transfer credits means that you know what your schedule will be by the first day of the new term. Choosing the right course from your previous education is easy when you know where to look.

Where to start?

- The Course-to-Course Equivalencies Database is a list of courses from other external institutions, including what courses may be equivalent to courses offered at GBC and the program they are associated with. If you have a course on your transcript matching a course combination on this list and the GBC course is part of your program, apply through STU-VIEW to receive a transfer credit exception. Note – minimum grade requirements and other program factors will apply.

Transfer Credit Master Guide – Online Application

- Course Catalog: GBC page which will list the courses associated with your program, we recommend you find your program and browse the course titles as this will be a good place to start to determine if that is the course you might look at further for possible transfer credits.
- Degree Works: Please select link and navigate your way to your personal Academic Progress Report. An Academic Progress Report is a tool that lets you evaluate your progress against your program's requirements. This tool gives you a snapshot of your program's academic requirements, along with the required courses you have completed, those in progress, and any courses remaining for you to complete your program. Checking your Academic Progress Report will help you stay on track to graduate.

Review GBC Course Outlines: Most course outlines are posted on the GBC website. Compare the course outline of the course from your previous institution to the GBC course outline. Similarities to look for include Content, Outcomes, and Credit Hours.

What are the Different Types of Applications?

You can submit 3 different types of transfer credit applications. Please see the definition of each application type below.

1 to 1: You wish to use ONE course from your previous institution towards ONE transfer credit at George Brown College

1 to 2: You wish to use ONE course from your previous institution towards TWO transfer credits at George Brown College

2 to 1: You wish to use TWO courses from your previous institution towards ONE transfer credit at George Brown College

The 1 to 1 application is our default application type, and the most common.

You may choose to use the 1 to 2 application type if you completed a year length course that is broken into two courses at George Brown. For example, you completed an Anatomy and Physiology course from your previous institution, and you wish to use this course for both Anatomy and Physiology I & Anatomy and Physiology II at George Brown.

Transfer Credit Master Guide – Online Application

You may choose to use the 2 to 1 application type if you believe a two-part course from your previous institution is equivalent to one George Brown course. For example, you completed Communications I & Communications II and you believe it is equivalent to COMM 2000 - Communicating Across Contexts at George Brown.

SUBMITTING AN APPLICATION FOR YOUR ELECTIVE REQUIREMENTS

If you completed General Education (diploma) or Liberal Studies (degree) courses at another post-secondary institution and earned a grade of C- (60%) or higher, you may be eligible for transfer credits for one (or more) of your electives.

You may submit transfer credit applications for all applicable electives for your program at the same time if you wish.

How to get started?

1. View your program's elective requirements

To view your program's elective requirements, see General Education Requirements.

Note, the General Education Requirements page displays the elective requirements for the current academic year.

2. Review the list of electives offered at George Brown to see what kind of courses qualify for transfer credits.

To qualify for transfer credits, courses must fall into one of the three General Education categories:

- I. Arts and Humanities (GHUM)
- II. Social Science (GSSC)
- III. Science and Technology (GSCI).

Note: Program and field specific, computer, study skills and language courses, and program mandated general education classes do not qualify for elective transfer credits.

3. Select the correct category for your application

Transfer Credit Master Guide – Online Application

What course(s) should I choose from my transcript for General Education or Liberal Studies electives?

- There are several factors to consider when selecting a course to use in your application for Transfer Credit for a General Education or Liberal Studies elective: 1) The course must fit into one of the three elective categories we use at GBC: Arts and Humanities (GHUM), Social Sciences (GSSC), and Science and Technology (GSCI).
- To see examples of the kinds of courses that fit into each of these categories, review the course descriptions on the General Education and Liberal Studies electives web page. These lists include only electives offered at GBC. Many other courses are eligible for Credit Transfer as long as they fit one of the accepted categories and meet all of the other requirements. The chart below is to help illustrate what type of courses fit into the three elective categories.

ARTS/HUMANITIES (GHUM)	SOCIAL SCIENCE (GSSC)	SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY (GSCI)
Art courses (not skills-based)	Anthropology	Biology (human or plant)
Film (not skills-based)	Gender studies	Nutrition / health
Philosophy	Geography	Physics (general)
Photography (not-skills-based)	History	Statistics (general)
Pop culture	Political science	Technology
Religion/theology	Psychology (not clinical)	Environmental science (general)
Fiction/literature	Sociology

Transfer Credit Master Guide – Online Application

The focus and content of courses used to apply for Transfer Credit for electives must be completely unrelated to courses you are taking in your program.

- General Education and Liberal Studies electives introduce students to knowledge and perspectives in disciplines outside their field of study. Make sure you do not choose courses that overlap with your program courses. For example, students in Business programs cannot transfer Economics courses as General Education or Liberal Studies electives. 3)

Courses that develop skills and knowledge used in a particular workplace or profession do not qualify for Credit Transfer as General Education or Liberal Studies electives.

- This includes most courses completed as part of a vocational program at another institution and a broad range of professionally related courses such as Marketing, Human Resources, Computer Programming, Graphic Design, Counseling, Pharmacology, and many others. General Education and Liberal Studies courses focus on broadening and deepening our understanding of the social, political, and cultural contexts in which we live and work, not on developing specific workplace, professional, or technical skills.

Courses that focus on teaching learners “how to” develop or apply specific technical, mechanical, communication/interpersonal, personal health and fitness, and/or creative knowledge and skills also do not qualify for Credit Transfer as General Education or Liberal Studies electives.

- This includes many science courses such as Chemistry, Molecular and Cell Biology, and Physics (the exceptions are courses for non-science majors that focus on the function and relevance of scientific principles in everyday life); math courses such as Algebra, Calculus, Finite Math, etc.; computer skills courses; interpersonal communications and management courses; writing skills courses, including creative and technical courses, research skills, public speaking and language courses; personal development courses like stress management, Yoga, Tai Chi, mindfulness training, career exploration/preparation, study skills; photography, art, dance, music, and theatre skills courses, and many other skill and personal development courses.

The course must be equivalent to a 3 credit (42 contact hours) GBC elective and the final grade must be 60% (C on the GBC grading scale) or higher.

- Courses evaluated on a pass/fail basis are not eligible for Credit Transfer as General Education electives.

For General Education and Liberal Studies Elective Courses:

Transfer Credit Master Guide – Online Application

1. Check the General Education and Liberal Studies Electives page for your program's elective requirements. Please note the guidelines about the breadth requirement and any course exclusions for your program.
2. You may apply for all General Education or Liberal Studies elective transfer credits in one application in any semester.
3. In the George Brown Course Details section, select an elective code from the drop-down menu. The elective codes follow a sequence. Always start with the lowest sequence number in your application, i.e. when applying for an Arts and Humanities transfer credit, use GHUM 1111 in your application first. If you submit a second Arts and Humanities application use GHUM 3333 in your application. The table below will detail the various elective codes:

Elective Type	George Brown College Program Type	Elective Category	George Brown College Course Details
			Subject Area	Course Number
General Education (GNED) Electives	Diploma	Arts & Humanities	GHUM	1111, 3333, 4444

You will receive an email notification when your transfer credit is processed. If you wish to stay registered in the approved course, please email the Transfer Credit Office at transfercredit@georgebrown.ca with your student ID and application details and state that you wish to stay registered in the course.

WHAT TO DO IF YOUR APPLICATION IS DENIED?

All students will receive an email notification when a decision is made. If your application is denied, you will also see the reason for denial in the email. Some of the common reasons to deny an application are:

1. Course Content not Equivalent: This means, that after reviewing your application, it was determined that your incoming course content was not equivalent to the George Brown course you wish to receive an exemption for.
2. Minimum Grade not Met: The grade for your incoming course does not meet the minimum requirement for transfer credit.
3. Not Elective Content: The incoming course does not meet the general education elective criteria as per ministry standards.
4. Insufficient Documentation: The College did not receive enough information to evaluate your transfer credit request.

Transfer Credit Master Guide – Online Application

See table below for a list of all common reasons for denial.

If you have any questions about your application decision, see the Academic Evaluator’s contact information in the decision email or contact your Academic Department for assistance. It is recommended to attach the course outline in the email that is sent to the department.

Common Reasons for Denial

REASON FOR DENIAL	EXPLANATION
Course Content Not Equivalent	Upon evaluation, it was determined that the incoming course content was not equivalent to the GBC course for which an exemption was requested. This could be due to one or more of the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Subject does not match – e.g., student requests exemption from English using a math course • Course outcomes do not match • Not enough overlap of course material • Key components of GBC course are missing from the incoming course
Course Level or Hours Not Equivalent	The transfer credit request was denied due to one of the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The incoming course was taken at a different level than the GBC course – e.g., student’s incoming course was from high school or a college diploma/certificate, but the GBC course is at the degree level.

Transfer Credit Master Guide – Online Application

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The incoming course did not have as many hours of instruction as the GBC course
Incoming Course is Out of Date	Upon evaluation, it was determined that the incoming course was taken too long ago and does not reflect current levels of knowledge. For example, courses can become outdated due to new regulations/laws or advances in technology. In addition, the validity of some courses is limited due to association regulations – RNAO, CGA, HRP, etc.
Insufficient Documentation	The College did not receive enough information to evaluate the transfer credit request. This could be due to one or more of the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Incorrect course outline submitted – e.g., for the wrong course or the wrong year Course description is too vague Course outline needs to be translated into English External evaluation required from ICAS or WES (for international transcripts)
Minimum Grade Not Met	The student’s grade in the incoming course does not meet the minimum requirement for credit transfer. In general, a minimum grade of C- or 60% in the incoming course is required; however, some GBC courses have higher minimum grade requirements for credit transfer.
Not Elective Content	The incoming course does not meet the general education elective criteria as per ministry standards.
Not Eligible for Exemption	Upon evaluation, it was determined that the student is not eligible for an exemption. This could be due to one or more of the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Exemptions are not granted for foundation-level GBC courses The Academic Department does not grant exemptions for the requested GBC course – e.g., all students are required to take this course

	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• An exemption was already granted for the GBC course• The incoming course was already used to exempt the student from a different GBC course• Institutional Residency – Students may be denied a transfer credit if their institutional residency requirement is at risk of being unmet.• Course at originating institution is an exemption – You must apply with the original graded course.
